“ Our Father lived his life as an example of how a man should love and be there to help raise his children being a role model of working to provide for yourself and your family while also enjoying those you love and making sure you let them know you love them in words and by your deeds. Me and Mr Charles worked at Wal-Mart together he came in as a vendor worker. One thing I notice about him, he loved his family. He talked about how proud he was of his kids and he talked about his vacations loving the time with his family. He will be truly missed and he carried a smile tat u can never forget. We was also church member's. I'm praying for the family and RIP Mr Charles Thanks for the long talks an memories I LOVE YA!
