“ Chris this one hard bro. I stayed up all night thinking anytime could be my last. People didn't really understand you based on the choices you made in life but I respected you like a mf and it showed. I remember when you got locked down, wasn't many around then but in letter you would stress how you was goin to get out and do right. In which you did, as a friend I watched you grow and enjoy yourself in the process..and you had so far to go. I really hate to even be typing this but I want the world to know about you from a real friend perspective. People often say, you'll have no more worries but truthful, you do. But it's in control of the Lord, the well being of your son. I pray that he manifest through life without the troubles and gradually gain success through the strength of your absence. As long as I'm alive and in position to do so, I promise I will look out for him cause that's what real friends do. To the family, I mourn with you in these time but as life shows cherish one another. I pray God be with you and deliver peace and blessings to all. 🙏 I've known Chris since like first grade , and what I can say dude was definitely one of a kind!! Mane use to draw Dragon Ball Z character for me (I'm Vegeta 😂😂) remember we wanted to rapyou always told me I had it in me which I still don't see. “ Hull family, So sorry to have learn of the passing of Chris. He was one of my student in my second grade class at Forrest Hills Elementary, some years ago. He stayed with his grandmother. and later years he moved with mother. He did well in school, and his grandmother was so proud of him. He was a happy little fellow and had fun with his classmates. You all have my thoughts and prayers. His memories will forever be in your hearts. Be Blessed!
