“ It's still hurts so much missing everything within a person who will never come back. It's sucks cause you have forever been a testimony in my life I can't never let go of. I still tear up like the last day I seen you face. When it's feels heavy I just hug myself tightly like the last time I seen you as if it was you holding me tightly. Miss those forehead kisses and good morning beautiful motivation messages you send through out my days. I'll always miss you and honestly adore your well-being here on earth & through heaven. You did a number on me? Ppl ask how? But nobody will never understand having soul ties to a person in a different level in life. Can rub your spirit for a moment when life gets hards cause you was my only comfort outside my kids. You was family gave me hope.. I'll cherish those moments for a lifetime they forever my precious moments cause things was exciting and fun being your friend. I miss you sooo much and just still will this dream was forever a bad nightmare instead of real life...
