Willie being the youngest sibling and him and our father named after our Great Grandfather Willie B Lovelace. He will always be remembered fondly. “ I was just thinking of him last week as I put the finishing touches on my autobiography, "Phoenix Rising, The Next Episode." There are so many memories that he, Andrew Williams, Lee Harper and me (William Cook) created together. Willie was a close friend, college dormmate (Hotz Hall) where I was his Resident Assistant (for one year). I'm laughing now between tears as I recognize that he and I were not the most dedicated of students - but by grace we got it done. Nonetheless the four of us held a constant presence together during our college days. Willie was a passenger in my car as we made one of our numerous weekend errands for spirits down Duncan Street in Fayetteville. We were all together, including Jesse Wooten, that fateful Friday night when another driver caused our traffic accident causing us to instantly trash our purchases from moments earlier. Even then, there was never a dull moment with Willie as he was a source of constant humor, and he could make laughter in otherwise difficult situations. This is yo man, Cook, K-U-A-F Campus Radio DJ "Sweet C." Missing you, Willie, now go 'dem wings - I ain't talkin' bout no chicken either, boy-ee.

“ Willie was a freshman at the University of Arkansas in 1972-73, and lived in Hotz Hall. I was a Resident Advisor (RA) in Hotz that year, and remember Willie as a jovial, considerate, and cordial student. I extend my sympathy to the Morris family.
